Subject: Support for Fracking. I have been looking for evidence against fracking in Australia for over 3years. (Since it was called Fraccing). Despite fracking operating for more than 40 years, I can only one incident that I have been able to find.

So, what's the problem?

I have a close association with many Greens in the Bunbury area. They can't find me any factuascientific evidence. They avoid me when they see me coming. You may be more successful than them.

My green friends admit that Anti Fracking is a scare campaign to stop oil & gas exploration. To some extent, I agree with this but using Fracking as an excuse is dishonest. Yes, there MAY be a problem and we MAY be hit by an asteroid. But MAY is not scientific evidence.

I hope your enquiry can find scientific evidence that can support one side or the other.
